

the Supreme Court ruling on affirmative action programs. These programs have been in place to assist struggling minority and women-owned businesses all over the country, people who have been denied opportunities in the past by law and who are still being denied opportunities in fact. They have been denied the opportunities to participate in this great country. We must not let the Republican angry-white-male syndrome keep others from full participation in the American dream.

We must continue to reach out to the disadvantaged, not only to blacks, but to women and also to those who have physical disabilities.

The current Supreme Court decision has turned back the clock of time. We must reverse this in order to continue the few decades of progress this country has made in the area of diversity, equality, and justice for all.

Mr. Speaker, this Nation cannot afford to go back down the road to discrimination.

WHAT ARE DETAILS OF PRESIDENT'S BUDGET PLANS?

(Mr. CHRYSLER asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. CHRYSLER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to welcome Mr. Clinton to the balanced budget battle. You know, we are looking forward to the details of his plans. All we know at this time is that 90 percent of its cuts, $190 billion, occur in the last year of its 10-year plan. The freshmen sent a letter to the leadership and said that we would not vote for any budget that did not put this country on the glidepath to a balanced budget by the year 2002. The leadership then sent a letter to the President and asked him if he would give us his vision, where he would like the money spent, and give us a budget that would balance. We asked for that to be done before he went to Russia, and in fact we received only the budget that gave us $200 billion deficits for as far as the eye could see.

Well I guess at this point he has wet his finger and seen which way the political winds are blowing, and can we really take him seriously when in fact it was him and his people that worked in the Senate to kill the balanced budget amendment by getting six Democrats that had always voted for a balanced budget in the Senate to vote against the balanced budget amendment.

PRESIDENT'S BUDGET EFFORTS ARE LATE

(Mr. HAYWORTH asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. HAYWORTH. Mr. Speaker, this morning the silence is deafening. Only 2 members of the new minority, with over 200 members in their ranks, only 2 members of the new minority stood here in the well of the House to champion the President's effort to balance the budget. Let me again repeat what the ranking Democrat on the House Committee on Appropriations told both the Associated Press and ABC News:

I think most of us learned some time ago that if you don't like the President's position on a particular issue, you simply need to wait a few weeks . . . If you can follow this White House on the budget, you're a whole lot smarter than I am.

So spoke the gentleman from Wisconsin [Mr. OBEY]. Small wonder then that I refer to my friends on this side of the aisle as guardians of the old order. We welcome the President's efforts, but as our own leadership said, this train left the station, and he is making a vain attempt now to latch on to the caboose.

PERMISSION FOR SUNDRY COMMITTEES AND THEIR SUBCOMMITTEES TO SIT TODAY DURING 5-MINUTE RULE

It is my understanding that the minority has been consulted and that there is no objection to these requests.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. BUNNING). Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Arizona?

Mr. McNULTY. Mr. Speaker, reserving the right to object, the gentleman is correct, the minority has been consulted. There is no objection.

Mr. Speaker, I withdraw my reservation of objection.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Arizona?

There was no objection.
